Mr. Chase T. Brockstedt Baird Mandalas Brockstedt LLC 1413 Savannah Rd. Lewes, DE 19958

Dear Mr. Brockstedt:

Thank you for your attention to the difficult situation at the New Indy Container plant located in Catawba, South Carolina.

My wife Susan and I recently moved to Lancaster County, South Carolina into the Tree Tops Community. Having recently retired after a 40+ year career with a large national bank, we moved to the area to be closer to our family including our young granddaughter. Being avid outdoors people, we enjoy walking, swimming, hiking and being outside as much as possible. We also enjoy the company of our Havanese pup named Bailey which necessitates frequent trips outside for her business and to take walks.

With our move to Tree Tops and our outdoor activities, it quickly became apparent that something was in the air. After chatting with neighbors and checking social media we learned about New Indy and their retrofitting to manufacture cardboard. With the uncertainty around the air quality, I decided to start tracking the smell to verify the source and provide quantitative data on the impact in our community. As such, I am writing to report my observations.

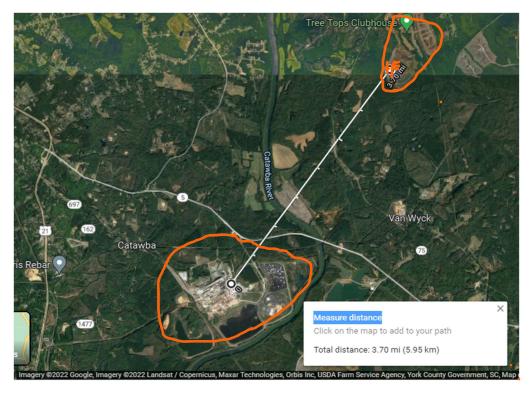

New Indy Location from Tree Tops

The center of the New Indy mill is located 3.5 to 4.5 miles to the southwest from the Tree Tops community. New Indy is located just south of South Carolina Route 5 on the west side of the Catawba River and is just across the river from the Catawba River Water Plant which supplies water for the surrounding community.

Tree Tops is just south of Indian Land, South Carolina on Van Wyke Road. You can reach Tree Tops by driving south on South Carolina Route 521 and turning right onto Van Wyke Road. The Tree Tops Community is about three miles from that intersection on the left side of Van Wyke Road. Tree Tops sits about two miles north of Van Wyke, South Carolina.

Our home is located at 1809 Tranquility Blvd., Lancaster, SC 29720 – about 3.7 miles from New Indy and is the primary reporting location for most of the hourly reports on the spreadsheet.

The map below provides a visual on the locations with New Indy and the Tree Tops Community circled and our home highlighted at the asterisk within the community.

Verifying Source of Sweet Chemical Smell

My initial goal was to ensure that New Indy was the source of the smell. Shortly after we moved into our new home, we were out shopping near Rock Hill and were returning home, driving east from Rock Hill along Route 5 (which runs just north of the plant). As we passed the plant and were on the bridge crossing the Catawba River, we noticed a very strong, sweet sickening chemical smell. After a short distance, the smell diminished and we turned to the north towards Van Wyke Road. Shortly before we turned from Van Wyke Road into Tree Tops, we again began to smell the stench. Upon arriving at our Tree Tops home, we were into the thickest part of the smell – "home sweet home I guess" is what my wife said at the time. Sadly, it wasn't funny.

On two other occasions we first identified the sweet chemical smell at our home and drove past New Indy to confirm the source of the smell. On returning from another shopping trip to Rock Hill, we drove south and west of the plant down South Carolina Route 21. We identified the smell and confirmed the wind direction to the west as we drove through Catawba, South Carolina. I am confident that the sweet chemical smell is emanating from New Indy.

Data Gathering on Sweet Chemical Smell

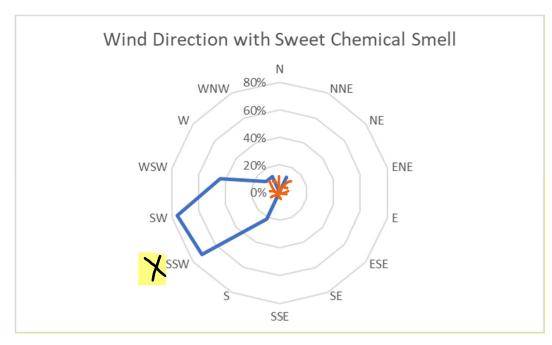

Beginning in mid-January and then continuing through much of February and early March, I began tracking by day and hour (8 AM to Midnight) whether I could detect the now familiar sweet sickening chemical smell outside my home. I also tracked the intensity of the smell (Low, Medium, High), the "from" wind direction and speed from Willyweather.com (Catawba Wind Forecast – Zip Code 29704), as well as the "to" wind direction and speed from the Weather.com application on my iPhone. As noted on the spreadsheet, the smell was consistently a sweet sickening chemical odor.

I maintained this information in an Excel spreadsheet. Attachment 1 to this letter includes the detailed daily/hourly observations as described above. The headings from the worksheet and a few hours of sample data from January 13 are pasted below for informational purposes.

Wind Direction with Sweet Chemical Smell Observations

Please see the chart below for a visual display of the wind direction when the sweet chemical smell was experienced. The solid blue line shows the percentage of positive smell readings by wind direction. The preponderance of the data shows the source of the smell aligned towards New Indy which is shown at the X on the chart. Our home is indicated by the asterisk in the center.

(Please note that the chart above does NOT align to standard north/south axis but is skewed based upon the weight of data results.)

Other Observations

In addition to the findings above, I have a few other thoughts and observations. The weather has a significant impact on the intensity of the smell. For example, if the humidity is high, it is cloudy or rain is expected, the smell intensity tends to be much greater. The smell tends to be much more intense in the summer months when the air is warmer and/or more humid. Wind speeds of less than three (3) miles per hour or more than twelve (12) miles per hour tend to result in lower smell intensity – either not moving the air far enough to reach our community or moving the air so fast that it tends to dilute the air from the plant. A cloud cover tends to hold the air closer to the surface which can produce an intense smell despite heavy winds.

Final Thoughts

Putting aside the analytical reporting and analysis, the human toll from New Indy is significant for my family. About two days a week (three in the summer) it is difficult to go outside – the smell smacks you in the face as soon as you step out the door. For me, the smell is a strong sweet sickening chemical smell and when at moderate or at high levels, I get a scratchy throat and congestion – not unlike when my allergies might flair up. The impact for me is immediate when I step outside.

Our daughter-in-law Leslie has reported a series of health issues which she began to experience around the beginning of 2021 including breathing issues, cold-like symptoms including a runny nose/congestion and throat/eye irritation. Their home is about 7.5 miles to the northeast of New Indy. In the summer of 2021, they considered moving but instead opted to have a home filtration system added to their HVAC system to scrub the air coming into their home. After installation and some minor tweaks, she has had significant improvement at the cost of about $1,000. However, if she steps outside on the wrong day, those symptoms return. And when the smell is bad, they will not let our granddaughter go outside – they are in essence trapped in their home.

To close, at the EPA open house in January, they explained that there is no health risk to the air we are breathing from New Indy. In my rebuttal comments to the EPA, I disputed that with good rationale which I will not detail in this letter. Regardless, I cannot see how anyone would want their children and their family to have to endure this putrid air and the odor. Regardless of the physical health impacts, the emotional toll is just as dangerous. I never thought I would find myself planning my workouts and social calendar around the wind direction. Some days you just can't go outside. And on many nice warm sunny days, you can't open your windows to let in the fresh air because, well, there is NO fresh air.

Mr. Brockstedt, thank you once again for helping us address this important and pressing issue for our family and the Tree Tops community.

Best regards,

Jun z Ghu
